

This is the 'Sonic Story' of Matthew Bourne's The Red Shoes.

It highlights loud and quiet moments from the performance and moments when the sound changes suddenly.

A Sonic Story can be used by anyone who would benefit from knowing about the sound of the show in advance.

Key information about the sounds of The Red Shoes:

There is loud classical music throughout the production. In London it is performed live by an orchestra. Everywhere else on tour it is pre-recorded.

The production uses music for by composer Bernard Herrmann including piano, strings, harp, and percussion.

There is no speaking in the performance.

There are several quiet moments.

Some of the loudest moments are train sounds near the end of act 2 and applause at the end of both acts.

The next two pages describe the sounds in more detail.
